Maui Loses All Three Games In Honolulu

First Two Games Were Sickening, But Last One Was As Fine An Exhibition As Any One Could Ask

The All-Maui baseball team returned home on Tuesday morning from Honolulu after a disastrous sojourn in which they went down to defeat three times in succession to as many different teams. The last game against the Honolulu Braves, played on Monday afternoon, however was no disgrace, being lost on a 2 to 1 score in an errorless game of 10 innings. It did a lot to redeem the boys in the eyes of their friends and to put them in a better frame of mind.

The first game which was played on Sunday afternoon against the Waikiki was a series of pitfalls and ended in a score of 12 to 4 against the Maui boys. In the first place, the Maui players had boarded the Mauna Kea at 2 o'clock Saturday morning at Lahaina and none had had over 3 hours sleep—and they played like it. Then Souza, the snappy short stop of the Maui, had the ill luck to sprain his ankle in the second frame, and although he tried to stick it out was forced to give up. The ump, had his wrong glasses on too, and made a number of raw decisions, one of which opened up an avalanche of hits and runs in the 5th. Bill Bal was replaced in this inning by Ah Leong who held the Waikiki down to 4 more hits in the rest of the game.

The Waikiki game was nothing to brag about, and they had their troubles too. Diehl, their 2nd baseman, breaking his leg in a slide to 2nd in the 7th inning.

Sunday's Game
Sunday's game was even worse with a score of 18 to 2 against Maui and in favor of the Chinese. Foster Robinson who was on the mound for Maui wasn't able to puzzle the Orientals.

"Singing School" Was Delightful Success

The "Singing School" is a thing of history in Kahului. But it will always be remembered as a dramatic success by local thespians and as a source of riotous fun by the public.

The Kahului Aid Society is to be congratulated on the unqualified success of the entertainment. It was achieved through the hearty and free cooperation of over a score who took parts in the play, of the committee in charge and of those who directed the production and arranged the stage.

R. O. Humphrey, as director, put much careful thought and effort into his work and succeeded in training a group of raw amateurs in the conduct that is necessary to make a good effect on the stage.

Joe Hansen undertook the difficult task of teaching the chorus to sing songs for which only one copy of music was available. The success of the play was due largely to the way in which he performed this task. Mr. Courson's help at the piano, a very important post in such a production, was a big asset.

Although many gave time and thought to the preparation of the play, especial mention should be made of the committee in charge, Mrs. E. Deinet and Mrs. J. Jamieson, who managed to make all lines of effort converge upon the one point of a successful production. The publicity campaign, as directed by Mrs. William Welch, was so effective that the territorial building was well filled with an enthusiastic and expectant audience when the curtain rose.

The territorial building is a place admirably fitted for dramatic productions and will surely be used frequently for that purpose in the future. At present it is without stage equipment of any kind but the stage was put into very attractive shape for this performance by W. B. O. Griep, who used the curtain from the Kahului community house and the scenery from the community house at Paia. The generous assistance of the Kahului Railroad Company in furnishing trucks for transporting chairs, scenery, etc., rendered easy the assembling of the things necessary for the staging of the play.

The people of the community entered so willingly into the production of the Singing School that it is a source of great satisfaction that everyone got so much enjoyment from it. People from all over the island were present and many stayed to enjoy the dance which followed the play. On the whole it was a very happy evening for the people of Maui.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Prof. P. P. Pippin (the master) — Ed Walsh
Miss Elvira Ketchum — Lydia Taylor
Squire Grumps — Wm. Lougher
Mrs. Amanda Squeezee — Mrs. H. V. White
Homer Gaines (secretary) — Mr. Pleasant
Timothy Hay (treasurer) — J. Robert Paris
Phyllis Tate — Eva Trauser
The Village Twins — Anna Hansen
Ira Kidd — Dora Tillemann
The Village Cut-Ups —
Cy Furr — George Murray
Cal Ambly — Alfred Hansen
Hi Waters — Mr. White
Welland Strong — W. Allen Robbins
Vera Swift — "Billie" Gardiner
Ann Sowforth — Myrtle Hansen
Lizzie Ford — Mrs. R. Courson
Ella Vescent — Ruth Parker
Sofie Green — Beatrice Webb

worth a cent, giving them 12 hits. The game was thoroughly disheartening, and though the Honolulu fans were inclined to be generous, the unusually big crowd finally couldn't stand any more, a large party of them had left the grounds before the game ended.

Last Game Fine
As first stated the last game was worth while, and is well told by the sports writer of the Advertiser as follows:

"Cecil J. Benny's Braves defeated the Maui All-Stars, 2-1, yesterday afternoon on the Moiliili Field diamond after 10 innings of as good baseball as any old-time fan has seen dished up in Honolulu. And Representative Taseho's Valley Islanders returned last night by the Claudine to their neighboring island homes without having won one of the series of three games played here during the invasion of the Mauiites.

"It was a lot different baseball Maui put up yesterday and to lose was no disgrace, for it was anybody's game right up to the last moment of play. Yesterday's contest showed what the visitors can do when they are right and they were all of that in this game. Maui played errorless ball from start to finish and pulled off a number of spectacular plays that got the crowd daffy with excitement.

"The game was, to a great extent, a pitcher's battle and both twirlers hurled great ball. Harry Sam Ku the valiant southpaw of the Braves, had perhaps the better of the argument holding the opposition to three scattered hits up to the close of the eighth frame. In the eighth Maui forced him to yield two safeties to them, this resulting in the alley Islanders' only score, which tied the game at one-all.

"Maui drew a hit in the 10th but failed to score, while the Braves found Bill Bal for three safe ones and brought in the winning run of the scrappy battle.

"Given perfect support by his teammates Big Bill Bal pitched a brand of ball that would win almost any old game, although he slipped up in the fifth and 10th frames, in each of which the Braves would not be denied and touched him thrice."

Acquiring Polish—"Frances," said the little girl's mama, who was entertaining callers in the parlor, "you came downstairs so noisily that you could be heard all over the house. Now go back and come downstairs like a lady."

Frances retired and after a few moments reentered the parlor.

"Did you hear me come downstairs this time, mama?"

"No, dear; I am glad you came down quietly. Now, don't ever let me have to tell you again not to come down noisily. Now tell these ladies how you managed to come down like a lady the second time, when the first time you made so much noise."

"The last time I slid down the banisters," explained Frances.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Women Keep Budget

WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 31.—More than four million women through out the United States have pledged themselves to the budget system in the management of their households during 1920. This month they are keeping track of their personal and household expenditures, and on the basis of what these figures reveal, they will perfect a budget for February.

"Thousands and thousands of women," said Mrs. Edward Dexter Knight, state chairman of thrift for the California Federation of Women's clubs, "never know until the end of the month when the bills come in what they have spent during that month. In cooperation with the Savings Division of the Treasury Department, they are going to find out what they spend in January by the old method of waiting for the bills to come in, and then for February they are going to make a budget and stick to it, stopping up the leaks in their purses."

Mrs. Knight, who is also assistant director of the War Loan organization for California, said, "The women of the nation, through their great organization, the general federation of women's clubs, have at last recognized that it is not enough to make both ends of the income meet. The ends must overlap, and overlap sufficiently to provide a margin of saving for the future."

When the women get their budget system running they will invest their savings with the government in thrift and war savings stamps and treasury saving certificates. The household budget system is an idea which the saving division of the treasury department anticipates that when it is generally adopted in the American home waste and extravagance will be cut to the minimum.

One of the organizations which will take a prominent part in the "make-a-budget program" is the Service Star Legion, a nation-wide organization of American women who had sons, husbands or brothers serving in the war. Mrs. Robert C. Morris of Toledo, Ohio, President of the Legion, when announcement of the government's home budget plan was made, telegraphed to the savings division of the treasury department, "please enroll our organization for service in this national thrift campaign."

Woman's Club Entertains Teachers

The teachers of Maui were the guests of the Maui Woman's Club last Monday afternoon at the territorial fair building for a Washington's Birthday party.

Dr. Curtis gave an interesting talk on the value of play, and cited that it was now viewed as a matter of such importance that where in 1906 there were only 20 cities maintaining organized playgrounds, there are now more than six hundred. Also since the school year has been extended from about four months in the year to nine or ten months with a tendency to even occupy twelve, that it was necessary to incorporate play as part of the occupation of the time thus so wholly taken up, to combat the nervous strain and ill health which would develop from too much mental activity and confinement indoors.

Following two songs delightfully rendered by Mrs. L. C. Jones, the Chanson Provencale by E. Dell Acqua and Rose O'Neill's Love Me, those present played games under the direction of Miss Alice Smith and Dr. Curtis, or joined in songs at the piano. The entertainment committee provided dainty refreshments which received a due share of attention.

Hana Social Club Entertained

Last Friday evening, members of the Hana Social Club, met for their first entertainment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kaluakini. Mrs. G. Cooper, president of the club was not able to be present, owing to illness in the family. Mrs. Kaluakini, vice-president, presided over the meeting which was held during the earlier part of the evening.

At the close of the meeting, delicious salad, sandwiches, and coffee were served. The evening was spent in card playing, singing and dancing. Music for the dancing was furnished by musical members of the club under the direction of Mr. W. P. Haia, Jr.
